At THUAS we focus on Collaborative Online International Learning for virtual collaboration. This is a shared syllabus approach, connecting groups of students and their academics from THUAS to a group of students and academics at an international partner.

Virtual Collaboration is seen as one of the approaches to integrate the concept of Internationalization at home in the whole curriculum. With the wider aim focused on reaching all students and offering purposeful integration for the domestic learning environments. (Beelen, Jones, 2015 Redefining Internationalization at Home.)
