Educational Vision

The Hague University of Applied Sciences contributes to a sustainable and just society through high-quality, practice-oriented education and research. In our internationally oriented knowledge institute, we educate students to become critically thinking and learning global citizens. In close collaboration with regional and international partners, we develop concrete answers to social challenges.

ES Mission and Vision

European Studies empowers young professionals to pro-actively resolve global challenges.

European Studies is committed to preparing global graduates; as such, the curriculum and philosophy of European Studies fits with the institutional plans of The Hague University of Applied Sciences. It is an interdisciplinary and international Bachelor of Arts degree programme taught in English that imparts 21st century skills to international professionals. It combines the knowledge offered in a business and/or public management programme with communication, critical thinking and research skills and uses an international, intercultural and multi-lingual approach that prepares students to meet the needs of employers in the public and private sectors in the Netherlands and abroad. The programme's strength is that the knowledge and skills conferred upon our alumni do not prepare students for a single, specific job. Instead, European Studies offers students options for a variety of different career paths related to running, representing and advising European organisations in both the public and private sectors.

Taking Europe as its main playground, the programme stimulates world citizenship through comprehensive internationalisation. By means of a solid network of international partners in higher education and the workplace, the students' experience and the quality of the curriculum are enriched. As Europe is an interdependent actor in the wider global community, European Studies has opted for an inclusive approach in which Europe is both an object of study and is considered in its wider global position. The programme aims to foster greater connection in Europe from its home in The Hague, the international city of peace and justice.

Let's Change. You. Us. The World.

Foreword

Dear students,

If you walk into our school on any given day, you'll probably hear more languages than at Schiphol Airport. And I absolutely love that. That's why I'm proud of the international programmes offered by the Faculty of Management & Organisation.

Our bachelor programmes, such as European Studies and International Communication Management, attract students from all over the world who come here for their full degree. Add to that around 250 exchange students — some staying for a year, others a semester — and you'll understand why we're home to about 35 nationalities at any given time. We proudly call these students our guest students.

You are an essential and vibrant part of our university!

We believe that an international community deserves an international outlook and this perspective is deeply embedded in our curriculum. From global politics to intercultural communication, our students get every opportunity to develop into world citizens — aware of diversity, inclusivity and the complexities of our time.

And whether you come from Indonesia, Venezuela or Romania, it's nice to be able to brush up on your language skills — whether it's Dutch, English or another language. That's why we offer language courses at different levels. It's not just about being able to communicate, but also about helping you feel truly at home.

This guide gives you an overview of what we offer our guest students. A clear and practical summary — and for those who want to dive deeper, detailed module descriptions are available. We'll do our utmost to make sure you feel welcome, have the space to grow, and enjoy an unforgettable time in the Netherlands. We're ready to welcome you — with open arms and a packed class schedule.

Warm regards,

Willem van Nieuwkerk
Director Faculty of Management & Organisation

1. The Dutch Educational System & the European Studies Approach to Learning

1.1 Introduction

The vast majority of higher education institutions in the Netherlands are state-funded and fall into two categories. There are around 14 traditional 'research' universities, and over 100 Universities of Applied Sciences named 'Hogescholen' in Dutch.

These vocational universities adopt a practical approach and explicitly set out to train students for specific jobs or a range of jobs at an academic level. There are strong links between these universities and the professional field. A 5/6-month traineeship is a compulsory part of the regular academic programme. Most study programmes at universities of applied sciences are 4-year bachelor's degree programmes, whereas bachelor's degree programmes at the traditional universities usually take three years. In both cases, graduates are awarded a bachelor's degree.

The Hague University of Applied Sciences (THUAS) is a university with a vocational approach. As an applied programme, European Studies (ES) is explicitly designed with a clear focus on what is demanded and valued by the professional field and potential employers. The programme's career-oriented approach can be seen in courses and projects that make use of:

- Real-world professional contexts
- Simulations of the professional field
- The use of professional products
- The presence of the professional field in the shape of guest lecturers and project partners
- Field visits and excursions
- Diverse work placement opportunities

In line with the THUAS educational vision to deliver "connected global professionals," ES teaches its students how to present themselves and how to network as professionals.

1.2 Internal Organisation of ES

THUAS comprises seven faculties, each with between 1000-5000 students. The Dean of the Faculty is responsible for the Faculty of Management & Organisation, which includes the European Studies programme, while the Programme Manager is responsible for the European Studies degree programme. The Programme Manager and Team Leaders jointly manage the lecturer team. Together they form the programme management team. Further information about the organisational structure of The Hague University of Applied Sciences, including an Organogram, is available on the university's website: www.thuas.com.

With over 100 exchange partners worldwide, ES has compiled a team of dedicated and enthusiastic people to run its international affairs. We have a core organisational team and several so-called 'Area Coordinators' who help our guest students settle into life in The Netherlands. THUAS also has a central International Office who receive application forms from potential guest students and help with visas, residency, and accommodation matters. More information on International Office can be found on the website of THUAS.

1.3 Learning Vision and Didactic Approach

Vision on Learning

The European Studies vision on learning is based on the following principles:

- A competency-based programme that provides our students with the knowledge, skills and attitudes required by the professional workspace.

- An interdisciplinary approach to learning to allow students to experience interdependent and interconnected relationships in today's world.
- Scaffolded and integrated learning based on horizontal and vertical alignment of a series of continuums, namely Intercultural Competence, Body of Knowledge, Professional Skills, Modern Foreign Languages, Project Management and Research Skills.

Didactic Approach

The interdisciplinary nature of the European Studies programme lends itself to varied didactic methodologies in order to accommodate student and staff diversity. Its delivery is based on the following five pillars:

- International professional situations
- Activating and challenging teaching methods in an intercultural learning environment
- Talent development
- Self-management
- Teachers as international professionals

The programme is constructed around several core competencies – knowledge and skills that students should possess by the end of the programme. The core competences of European Studies are listed below:

1. The student applies their knowledge of Europe to analyse complex challenges related to Europe and its changing role in the world.
2. The student applies their knowledge of the European Union's multi-level policy framework to advise organizations.
3. The student establishes professional relationships, and collaborates in an intercultural and interdisciplinary environment
4. The student researches and critically evaluates contemporary issues linking theory and practice to formulate concrete recommendations for organizations active in a European context
5. The student uses English to communicate in a professional context and at least one other European language foreign to one's own native language to communicate in a work-related context
6. The student demonstrates, in their Behaviour and attitude, awareness of their own strengths and weaknesses on the path toward becoming a European professional.

Learning Environment

Students experience first-hand the benefits of studying in an international environment. The intercultural classroom is utilised purposefully as a didactic tool in enhancing the learning environment for all those involved. To facilitate the intercultural classroom, student groups are of mixed composition comprising local, international and exchange students, whenever possible. However, interculturality is more than having students of different nationalities; it is also about acknowledging and learning from different cultural backgrounds. Students are encouraged to value diversity and to contribute to a safe and respectful learning environment, both in the formal and informal curriculum.

Our vision on learning, our didactic approach and our learning environment all contribute to delivering intercultural competent graduates who can operate independently, effectively and appropriately in today's world.

3. Facilities

3.1 Desks and Questions

There are several departments you can contact for a variation of topics and issues.

M&O Global Office, OV2.49 MO-GlobalOffice@hhs.nl

Specifically for exchange students, we can answer any question related to your academic programme, timetables, courses, etc.

THUAS International Office, OV1.10 exchange@hhs.nl

For any questions on your general application at THUAS, housing service through THUAS, residence permits and visas, health insurance, registration at the municipality

THUAS Front Office FZ IT, OV1.69 Frontoffice@hhs.nl

For IT related questions and issues (such as your Campus card or Wi-Fi login details), borrowing audio/visual equipment

M&O Exam Office, OV2.59 MO-examoffice@hhs.nl

For questions and troubleshooting related to your written exams; schedule, clashes

3.2 Library and Study Plaza

The library has a diverse collection of books, nearly 900 magazines, Dutch and foreign newspapers, and a large collection of graduation essays. There is a digital library which includes (international) databases, e-journals, standards database, E-books, THUAS theses and publications in digital form etc.

The library provides excellent electronic sources of information to students and staff. It is open to students registered at THUAS and to members of staff.

It's located on the first floor (entrance/exit, self-service unit for borrowing and returning items, Study Plaza) and ground floor (books, periodicals). Most library services are free of charge.

3.3 Student Counselling & Supervision

We have a counselling system in place to help students facing problems that may affect their study results. The student counsellor advises students on all kinds of matters ranging from study grants and housing to other study programmes inside and outside THUAS. They can also help students with any appeals against decisions judged to be unfair or incorrect. The central student counsellor may also be approached when students have more personal problems affecting their studies and to apply for exam facilities in case students need extra exam time etc.

THUAS also has a student psychologist. Students are confronted with a diverse range of problems: from losing the motivation to continue their studies or suffering from fear of failure to very serious situations such as psychiatric disorders. The psychologist can then provide short term care. The student counsellor will refer you to the student psychologist if deemed necessary.

Our Exchange students are also encouraged to speak to their Area Coordinator and/or the Mobility Co-ordinator to alleviate their problems. Any conversations with the faculty staff, counsellors and/or psychologists are strictly confidential. Students may be referred to expert agencies outside the university.

3.4 Campus Card

In order to use THUAS printers and lockers, you will need a Campus card. This card can also act as a payment card since it is not possible to pay with cash inside the university building. During the orientation week, we will show you where to collect a Campus card. You can top up your Campus card by using Paypal or a Dutch debit card. Alternatively, you can also pay by European debit cards on university grounds.

3.5 Food and drinks

Food and drinks can be purchased from the Foodcourt, the West 75 cafe and vending machines. In all cases, payment is by debit card or Campus card. The central food court has the largest selection of items, also serving vegetarian and halal products. Should you want to bring your own lunch, the university has microwaves that can be used for heating up your food. For other food options, there are several supermarkets and eateries within a 10 minute walk from the main building.

3.6 Medical Care

Physician / General Practitioner (GP)

In case of illness, you should contact a general practitioner (in Dutch: 'huisarts') first. They are your main link to any specialist or hospital. Most GP's speak English, but it is important to check if they participate in your health care system. The Hague International Centre can assist you in finding a general practitioner in The Hague. The website contains a wealth of useful information on health, and their staff speak various foreign languages. We recommend you find a GP as soon as you have arrived.

Medical emergencies

- For life threatening situations call: 112 (ambulance, fire department or police department) or visit the emergency room at the nearest hospital.
- If you are not feeling well and your symptoms are not life threatening, you can contact your general practitioner and make an appointment.
- For emergencies after 17.00 hrs and during weekends, you can contact the hadoks (in Dutch: 'huisartsenpost' via telephone number +31 (0) 70 34 69 669.

Payment

Make sure to bring proof of your health insurance to the appointment, otherwise you'll have to pay for the consult directly after you've visited the doctor. A regular consult costs around € 30 - € 50. Blood tests, psychological support e.g. cost a lot more. Do not forget to ask for a receipt, as after your visit you can declare these costs at your insurance company.

Pharmacies

In the Netherlands, you will need a prescription for most medication. With a prescription you can go to a pharmacy (apotheek) to collect your medication. You pay for it when it's ready, and if you have medical insurance, you can usually claim the expenses from the insurer. Certain medicines are available over the counter, either in a pharmacy or at a chemist (drogist). Pharmacies and chemists usually have the same opening hours as shops. There is always a pharmacy open, even on weekends.

Dentists

Dental treatment is not included in a standard medical insurance. If you need a dentist (tandarts) you should make an appointment first. After treatment the bill is usually sent to your address in the Netherlands. The cost of the consultation varies by type. Once again be sure to ask for a receipt if you pay in cash in order to receive compensation from your insurance.

Bring along your passport or identity card, insurance papers, your address in The Hague, and enough cash to pay for the treatment.

4. Student Activities

Besides the academic and support staff, ES also has student organisations that help in the faculty's organisation and activities. Their purpose is to organise extra-curricular activities and to help promote the international atmosphere within the campus. These student bodies also participate in 'academic conversation' with the management to ensure that student voices are heard. The bodies include:

4.1 ESCAPE

ESCAPE is the only study association at ES. Its most important aim is to stimulate friendship and understanding between its members, but also aims to establish good relationships with other student bodies within THUAS. ESCAPE tries to reach these aims by arranging social, academic, and cultural events.

Every semester, a number of exchange students will be recruited to join this organisation as it is also in charge of facilitating a better integration of exchange students in the Netherlands, bringing home and exchange students closer and mostly, making the exchange experience an enjoyable one!

4.2 ES Student Council

The student council consists of an executive committee that regularly meets with student representatives on the one hand, and with the Management Team on the other. Some of the board members also have a seat in the faculty committee. The council is there to listen to students' complaints about matters relating to ES and contribute to improving the situation for students. One or two members of the student council take part in the Educational Committee.

4.3 Campus Life & Sports at THUAS

THUAS organises numerous sporting activities, such as volleyball, football/soccer, basketball, badminton, yoga, Pilates, Zumba, boxing, capoeira, body shape etc. and students pay a small contribution to participate. The THUAS gym is accessible to students with a sport and fitness card, which can be purchased for a reduced amount for a semester or an entire academic year. For further information, please consult the Campus Life & Sports website.

The main campus is also home to various sports clubs (rowing, korfbal, lacrosse, rugby, tennis, football, volleyball, hockey, basketball, athletics etc.) and organises events and parties for international students from time to time. More information is available via email at campus@hhs.nl.

5. Information on the Academic Programme

The regular European Studies programme awards a bachelor's degree. The programme is offered in two formats – a 4-year programme and a more intensive 3-year programme. European Studies is taught entirely in English. This chapter will deal with information and rules and regulations of the exchange programme.

5.1 Attendance

In some modules, the final result is partly dependent on a student's active contribution during classes. In such cases of compulsory attendance (at least ten out of twelve or a comparable number of classes to allow for unforeseen illness or absence), this is clearly stated on the BrightSpace pages of the courses in question. If a student fails to attend the minimum number of times, they will not be awarded any credits for the module.

Students are expected to be on time for classes and if a student comes to class late, the lecturer concerned may refuse their entry.

5.2 Source Referencing & Handing in Papers

During your studies at THUAS, you are expected to use the American Psychological Association (APA). These rules, known as APA style, are laid down in a student manual, which is published on the student portal. All essays and assignments should have in-text references and a separate reference list. An essay and/or assignment without correct referencing will not be marked and referred to the ESCOM Exam Board.

Most teachers will require you to submit your paper through OURIGINAL. You can find this programme inside the BrightSpace course linked to the module. Hard copies may be requested by the lecturers in question.

5.3 How Students contact Lecturers

If students wish to contact staff outside class hours or want to hand in an essay or paper, there are the following rules:

- Handing in essays is usually through OURIGINAL, via email/ "BrightSpace" or in hard copy to the lecturer.
- Staff have specific office hours reserved to consult with students. During term, students can go and see staff then or contact staff via MS Teams. In weeks in which there is no teaching, they can make appointments directly with the lecturer they wish to speak to, via e-mail or MS Teams.
- Members of staff can be asked short questions through e-mail and MS Teams. Students can generally expect to get an answer to e-mail questions within three working days.

5.4 How Staff contact Students

If a member of staff wishes to contact a student, the following methods are used:

- Through e-mail. All students have their own THUAS e-mail address. The Digital Learning environment Brightspace is also commonly used, as is MS Teams.
- Through study announcements published on the university portal (<http://intranet.hhs.nl/>).
- If necessary, for confidentiality reasons, THUAS will try to contact a student through other methods, for instance, by phone or by post. For that reason, it is necessary that THUAS has up-to-date information about a student's address and phone number. Should any changes occur in the academic year, please tell the International Office (internationaloffice@hhs.nl)

5.5 Timetables

Exchange students will have access to the exchange programme timetable at the beginning of each semester. More information about the timetable will be provided during the introduction week. Class Hours are from Monday to Friday, from 08.45 to 18.00 in blocks of 45-180 minutes.

5.6 Year Calendar 2025-2026

The academic year is divided into two semesters. Each semester is divided into 2 terms of 9-10 weeks. There are 6-7 weeks of lectures, and students will mostly take their examinations at the end of each term. Resits from the previous term take place after the consecutive term, with a few exceptions.

Exchange students are required to be in The Hague one week before classes start.

The provisional list of important dates for the academic year 25-26 is as follows:

The first semester runs from 25 August 2025 until 19 December 2025*

25 Aug – 29 Aug	Start Mandatory Introduction week (semester 1)
1 Sept	Start of Semester 1 classes
20 Oct – 26 Oct	Autumn Break
27 Oct – 31 Oct	Mid Term Exams semester 1
15 Dec – 19 Dec	Final Exams semester 1
22 Dec – 4 Jan	Christmas Break

Resits Exams Semester 1 are held in April 2026 (in the evenings)

The second semester runs from 2 February 2026 until 10 July 2026*

2 Feb – 6 Feb	Start Mandatory Introduction week (semester 2)
9 Feb	Start of Semester 2 classes
16 Feb – 20 Feb	Spring Break
3 Apr – 6 Apr	Easter Weekend (national holiday)
7 Apr – 17 April	Midterms (in the evenings)
27 Apr	King's Day (national holiday)
27 Apr – 1 May	May Break
5 May	Liberation Day
14 May – 15 May	Ascension Day (national holiday)
25 May	White Monday/Pentecost (national holiday)
1 June – 5 June	Finals exams semester 2
29 Jun – 3 Jul	Resit Exams semester 2
20 July	Summer Break

This calendar is subject to change. No rights may be derived from this information.*

5.7 Changes to the Academic Calendar

Please note when planning holidays students must stick to the official holiday periods. ES occasionally needs to change dates and schedule exams or lectures on dates originally planned as free days. Students can be assured that no changes will be made to the official holiday periods.

5.8 Exam Dates

At the start of the academic year the academic calendar is published so that students can plan ahead. They can count on exams taking place in the exam weeks in which they have been scheduled, but exams may be moved to other days and times within those weeks. A final exam timetable is only available shortly before the exam period due to the multiplicity of exams. When this happens, it is to accommodate specific groups of students for whom the original schedule poses serious problems. Students will be informed of any changes through Osiris during the semester.

5.9 Exam Information

Both regular and resit exams must be taken in person. Exams (both regular and resit) will not be sent abroad for students to complete at their home institution. During your exchange, the exams from the host university (THUAS) always have first priority.

Identification

You are required to take a valid identification with you to the exam sessions. You will be asked to show your ID before entering the exam room (either digitally or physically). If you are an exchange student from outside the EU, Norway, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, or Iceland, please have your Dutch residence permit or a non-EU passport ready before the exam starts. A non-EU passport is only valid if the information on the identification page is written in Latin letters and the numbers are written in Arabic numerals. Without your ID, you are not allowed to sit any exams!

Attendance at On-Campus Examination

If examinations take place on-campus, you must be in the exam room at least 15-30 minutes before the start of the exam in order for your identity to be verified. You will also need to sign an attendance list at the start and the end of the exam.

5.10 Assessment Information and extra facilities

Assessment may take the form of assignments, presentations, essays and/or exams, and some courses will include a combination of different sorts of assessment. At ES, it is also customary to use multiple choice exams.

Students may only register and take one resit of a specific course per year. The maximum number of times a student can sit a particular exam is twice per academic year. If students register for exams/resits but do not show up to take them, this is officially counted as one of the two chances per academic year.

Grades are from 1 to 10, a grade of 5.5 or higher is a pass. Depending on the student's academic system, grades will be transferred to either numerical or letter grades. Another useful resource is Nuffic on the Dutch education system. Further information can be obtained from the home institutions of students.

Extra facilities

Students who need special facilities for exams and have such at their home university, are required to inform their Area Coordinator. The student should then contact a student counsellor to set up a meeting where possible exam facilities will be discussed. We advise students to book an appointment with the counsellor in their first week after arrival as the waiting list can take up to 4 weeks.

5.11 Number of Modules & Credit Points

Nearly all our modules carry a study load of approximately 140 hours (5 ECTS) or more. This includes preparation for classes, attending classes, self-study, sitting the exam or writing a paper.

The subjects listed below have various ECTS (European Credit Transfer System) weights. 1 ECTS equals 28 hours of work. We consider a full semester programme to be from 27 to 30 ECTS points.

The minimum number of credits for an exchange is 20 ECTS, and the maximum number is 40 ECTS per semester.

Most courses have around 10-12 contact hours and while group work may also be an unusual practice for some students, many agree that this provides an excellent opportunity to work with other students.

Class size may vary quite a bit from smaller seminar-sized groups to large lecture audiences. Most modules run for 6/7 weeks with 1 or 2 classes per week. Some modules run for the whole semester, so if you start a module in term 1 or 3 you are expected to complete it in term 2 or 4, and some resit exams may take place at the end of semester 2. Missing classes can become hazardous to your grades, since for most modules, missing a week is equal to 1/6 of a module.

5.12 Course Material

European Studies publishes module books and readers for most subjects via the 'Brightspace' electronic learning environment. Details on required textbooks and materials will be made available to students upon arrival.

Many modules have a required textbook and these can be expensive. Note that there are a minimal number of copies in the library (there is always a copy to be consulted and which cannot be lent out). It is sometimes possible to buy a second-hand copy of the textbook, but ultimately you may have to buy the textbook new in which case you should order the book as soon as you know your subject choice, particularly for subjects offered in the first half of the semester. We advise students not to buy books before confirming their course choice during the Introduction Week.

5.13 Pre-registering for Courses

Students will make a preliminary registration (pre-registration) online through the Osiris Student platform. Upon applying at THUAS, students will receive a link inviting them to pre-register for courses. During the introduction period, they will need to confirm their pre-registration after publication of the timetable, at which point their course choice becomes final. It is important to note that courses have limited spots available and students should be prepared to register for alternative courses. It is essential that students register preliminarily via Osiris to reserve a spot in a course. Should you fail to confirm your pre-registrations upon arrival, you will lose your reserved place in the course.

It is possible that you may be unable to follow one or more of your chosen subjects for reasons such as timetable-clashes, limited class sizes, a subject not being offered due to insufficient demand, etc.

6. The Academic Programme

On the next pages you will find a list of the courses within the exchange programme on bachelor level for the academic year 2025-2026. English is the medium of instruction and courses usually take place on campus.

6.1 The Academic Programme - Courses

European Studies reserves the right to change or cancel the courses on offer. European Studies also cannot guarantee that where a course is oversubscribed, students will be offered a place in it. Final course choices will be confirmed during the Introduction Week.*

Credits	5 ECTS
Module Manager	Antje Grebner (a.grebner@hhs.nl)
Entry Requirements	None
Method	Weekly sessions of 3 x 45min
Assessment	Case Study Analysis
Course Material	The Future of Development: A Radical Manifesto by Gustavo Esteva, G., Babones, S. and Babcicky, P.
Course Outline	The module focusses on the building blocks of creating democratic forms of governance and stable societies to elevate developing countries according with the United Nations Sustainable Development goals. In doing so, the focus lies on public institutional and societal infrastructure and strengthening the essential elements of a flourishing society through education, civil society capacity building and democratic institution-building. The module will outline and critically evaluate these outcomes and value of these approaches through

Firstly, looking at the relevant EU policies and the institutional framework in charge of implementation

Secondly, introducing analytical tools to evaluate the outcomes, followed by

Thirdly, detailed cases both in terms of geographical and thematic outreach, with the aim to analyse the possibilities of the EU to act in different circumstances and difficulties that it faces, applying analytical models.

Method	6 x weekly lectures, 6 x weekly seminars
Assessment	Policy Evaluation
Course Material	Will be provided on Brightspace.
Course Outline	Building on the knowledge gained in semesters 3 and 4, this course looks at the last two steps of the EU's policy cycle: implementation and evaluation. The EU is a highly diverse entity, consisting of multiple levels of political decision-making and implementation, and numerous stakeholders. Focusing on the diversity aspect of the Union and Europe at large, this course looks at the relationship between EU legislation (directives, regulations, decisions) and their implementation on the national level (Member States), as well as impact on the regional and local levels (sub-national organisations and entities). Multi-culturalism and diversity play an important role in whether and how EU policies are implemented. Nevertheless, the EU decision-making bodies, national bodies and agencies and sub-national actors, are guided by a number of fundamental EU principles. Moreover, in case of ambiguities, non-compliance or other procedural complications, there are judicial protection mechanisms and equality bodies. In order to allow students to work on a practical problem, the course focuses on diversity legislation, directives and regulations, which are at the heart of diversity in Europe (DG Employment, Social Affairs and Inclusion and DG Justice and Consumer, the diversity and equality aspects being represented by the Commissioner for Equality and Inclusion). The goal is to allow students to see how legislation related to diversity is implemented on the national and sub-national level, discover the differences across the 27 multi-cultural Member States, and work towards a framework of being able to evaluate the successes and failures of EU policies.
Learning Outcomes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Students will understand diversity in its many definitions and dimensions - Students will understand the history of diversity in the EU, as entrenched in Treaties, Strategies and Policies - Students will be able to evaluate diversity in the EU - Students will be able to produce a professional product (application to Capitals of Diversity)

Political Communication in the 21st Century

Course Code	MO-HMVT23-PCC
Year	3
Semester	1
Credits	15 ECTS
Module Manager	Dave van Ginhoven, d.vanginhoven@hhs.nl Rebecca Kleiweg, r.kleiweg@hhs.nl

Method	Lectures and video presentations
Assessment	Final paper/essay

A group presentation analysing of the online communications strategies used by a political entity (30%).

An individual essay offering analysis of the role of online communication in current political affairs (70%).

Assignment 1 (15%)

Assignment 2 (20%)

Final exam (65%)

Course Material	An (electronic) anthology of reading material is made available at the start of the course. Textbook Media Culture and Society (Hodkinson 2 nd edition 2017) material on BrightSpace and audio/visual materials used in class
Course Outline	Edmund Burke once described the media as the Fourth Estate in the political hierarchy after the conventional executive, legislature, and judiciary. Subsequently, we have witnessed an ever-closer relationship develop between the media and political actors. Hence, this course seeks to examine the role that the media play in various political circles and vice-versa. The central objective of the course will be to familiarise students with the seminal themes and concepts involved in the study of Media and Politics. This aim will be achieved by focusing the course on the core aspects of political communication, the dynamics of visual culture, political advertising, and developments in new technologies. The methodology will be to mix conventional lectures with practical examples of media coverage and political interaction. In addition, the course aims to provide students with a range of contemporary reading material from a wide variety of sources to help them expand their knowledge and awareness. The reading material has been carefully selected to match both the themes of the lectures and the contrasting and comparative scope of the course. This course aims to give students an introduction to the body of knowledge on the interface between politics and the new media. Politics is everywhere, it is fascinating and exciting. Political parties and politicians are now utilising new technologies as an increasingly important part of their strategies to communicate their message to other politicians, party members, and the public at large. As students of Media and Politics I will see, the use of different media requires different strategies, thus impacting the style, and often the substance, of politics. This module seeks to examine the ways in which politics and politicians have been changed by the use of new technologies and platforms such as social media. It examines the ways in which new ICT is used and how it fits in with the use of more traditional methods of political communication. The module will be taught in a way that will cover the study as succinctly as possible from an international perspective.
Learning Outcomes	Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Identify the essential basics of how media and political actors interact• Identify the various ways in which politics use the media• Trace the development of the mediatisation of politics• Trace the development of the politicisation of media• Demonstrate awareness of the fundamental differences and similarities of the adoption and adaptation of new technologies in differing circumstances.• Identify the various tools of political interaction in the modern world.• Create part of their own teaching and learning materials which can be utilised by their peers.• Critique the value of such materials via peer review and commentaries.• Analyse the fundamental potential shift in the roles of media production and consumption, facilitated by ICT's.

- Students will be presented with a sociological approach to media and gain an understanding of the political, economic, and social aspects of the media in contemporary society.

The Art of Protest

Entry Requirements	None
Method	Weekly lectures and seminars
Assessment	Assignments and Event
Course Material	A reading and film list includes, for example: Arendt, H. (1972) Crisis of the republic; San Diego/New York/London: Harcourt & Brace Graeber, D. (2009) Direct Action: An Ethnography. Edinburgh; Oakland: AK Press Graeber, D. (2013) The democracy Project: A History, a crisis, a movement; New York: Spiegel & Grau Hsiao, A. & Lim, A. (eds) 2016) The Verso Book of Dissent. Revolutionary Words from Three Millennia of Rebellion and Resistance; London: Verso Books Demson, M & McClinton, S.. (2013) Masks of Anarchy. A History of a RADICAL POEM from Percy Shelley to the Triangle Factory; London: Verso Books Jahanbegloo, R. (2014) Introduction to Nonviolence; New York & London: Palgrave Macmillan Scott, J.C. (1990) Domination and the Art of Resistance. Hidden Transcripts; New Haven & London: Yale University Press
Course Outline	During the course, students will be introduced to a wide range of significant historical protest events, important individual activists and globally significant activist movements, whose creative protest methods have had a lasting impact on society in contemporary Europe. In tandem with the historical perspective, students will explore, in theoretical and practical ways, different forms of creative protest including, for example: parades and blockades, occupation and absence, noise and silence, dressing up and dressing down. The examples to be studied are drawn from both historical and contemporary issues and include, but are limited to: climate action, animal rights, gender equality, and fair and safe employment. In order to reflect the rich complexity of civic activism and its relationship with mainstream society, the course will also draw on examples of examples of protest that have become commodified, such as Pride, and examples of clash within protests (Pride Washington and Queer Police in the wake of BLM). To further enrich the creative cultures in which action takes place, the course will cover instances where creative non-violent protest has been illuminated in fiction, both in literature and film including work for young people (Harry

	Potter et al). The intention is to make the material feel relevant and engaging for a range of students and will include some of the most creative examples of people in action. In addition to the final assignment, a protest event designed and staged by students, assessment will be made on the historical material covered, group work, and on the theory and practice of safe, inclusive, event management.
Module Learning Outcomes	This highly practical course works within a historical and contemporary context to examine the (creative) practice of non-violent civic protest in Europe from the 19th century to the present day. During the course, students will design a multi-media, multi-discipline event that draws on the elements of history and creative practice introduced during the lectures, seminars, and creative workshops. In the final week of the course, students will stage a short, choreographed event that displays their learning in the form of a professional product – an event and the associated plans and permissions and log book elements. The event, to be held on the main campus/sports campus and utilising the multi-level space of the atrium and/or open space, will include a range of protest forms, delivered in accordance with safe, inclusive and accessible, best-practice event management.

International Law

Course Code	ES-HMVT23-LAW
Year	3
Semester	1
Credits	15 ECTS
Module Manager	Isabel Dusterhoft (International Humanitarian and Criminal Law) i.k.dusterhoft@hhs.nl Maarten van Munster (Human Rights Law) m.vanmunster@hhs.nl
Entry Requirements	A good command of English (reading level C1 CEFRL) is essential to do well in the course. No legal background is required but a 'feel' for legal material is likely to be an asset.
Method	Teaching will be mainly by means of participatory workshops and seminars, although there may be mini lectures from time to time where the need arises.
Assessment	Group case assignment (presentation + essay) Comprehensive final exam (written) Individual paper (essay) Written exam & moot court Written exam, & presentation
Course Material	Jan Klabbers (2020), International Law , (2nd ed.), Cambridge University Press Moeckli, D., Shah, S., & Sivakumaran, S. (2017) International Human Rights Law . Oxford: University Press
Course Outline	The objective of this course is to provide students with legal and generic knowledge on Public International Law (PIL). Relations between states are governed by the policies of international law; critical knowledge of international law therefor represents an indispensable precondition for the understanding of complex relations on the international stage. PIL consists of rules and principles of general application dealing with the conduct of states and of international organizations and with their relations inter se as well as with some of their relations with persons, whether natural or juridical.

Both International Humanitarian Law (IHL) and International Criminal Law (ICL) belong to the realm of international law. Both fields of law have developed spectacularly in recent decades. However, the basic principles of international humanitarian law and the founding conventions in this field have been around for much longer. The principles and rules of International Criminal Law have been strongly developed by International Legal institutions (many of them based in The Hague) such as the former International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY), the former International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda (ICTR) and the International Criminal Court (ICC), some of which may be visited during field trips.

The aftermath of the Second World War provided a fertile ground for the creation and promotion of International Human Rights Conventions. The first step in this process was the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in 1948. At the moment, over 10 different United Nations conventions are in force. On a regional level three legal systems exist: the Inter-American, African, and European system. In this module students will specifically focus on the European system. The cumulative effect of both the developments at the UN and the regional levels has led to a situation where human rights can no longer be considered as belonging to the domestic jurisdiction of individual states. Human rights standards have become internationalised both legally and politically. Governments experience pressure to observe international standards and can no longer get away by simply denouncing foreign interference within the domestic situation of the country.

Course Outline

Upon successful completion on the course, students will be able to:

- Have knowledge and understanding of the function, sources, and major principles of IL
 - Understand the making of treaties and their importance in international relations.
 - Appreciate the possibilities and limitations of international dispute resolution.
 - Be able to deal with problems that have international legal implications: territory, law of the sea, state responsibility and the use of force.
 - Be able to deal with problems that have international legal implications: analyse problem questions; set out the fundamental principles involved in the questions; apply those principles and show an awareness of alternative arguments.
 - Have knowledge of the structure and powers of the main institutions involved in the field of PIL and the resolution of disputes.
 - Explain the historical foundations and fundamental principles of IHL.
 - Discuss the role of courts and tribunals active in the field of ICL.

Course Outline	The current internal and external dynamics in the European Union has led in the past decade to an impasse which hinders the European Union to fully realise its potential as a normative power externally and a guarantor of peace and prosperity inwardly. Widespread discontent led to the rise of Euroscepticism, linked to the question of the necessity of a European identity to strengthen the legitimacy of the European Union and its governing institutions. Populism is on the rise and the political parties associated with opposition to further integration advocate either dismantling the European Union altogether or create a union of sovereign states rather than pooling sovereignty. It is important understand these dynamics, the ideological framework of the arguments and their impact on the capacity to create a strong European Union. This module proposes to analyse ideational foundations of the EU and its critics, the positions of Euroscepticism, nationalism, populism, national and European identities & culture and link

Course Material	Covey, S.R., The Seven Habits of highly effective people , Free Press, New York & documents distributed in class EU-Documents, online material, documents handed out in class & Krijtenburg, M., "Schuman, yesterday & today"
Course Outline	The course consists of Personal leadership combined with Core Principles for European Integration. Students take two lectures / workshops (90 minutes each) every week: one on Personal Leadership and one on Core Principles for European Integration. The course provides a practical output of universal and timeless principles that help the student to achieve his or her highest personal aspirations and to overcome his or her greatest challenges. The course shows at the same time how those same principles are engraved in the European unification project and are meant to be leading principles for the European integration process. Current issues like migration, Brexit, terrorism, EU-Russia tension, and East-West and North-South situations will be dealt with in the light of those core principles learned, as the principles are possible ways to help to resolve those tensions. Topics on Personal Leadership: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Freedom & responsibility, character ethics, • Being pro-active while putting values above feelings • Having a response-ability whatever the circumstances while keeping the end in mind and putting first things first. • The above contributes significantly to leading a (more) happy, harmonious life, while being (more of) a leader. • Active participation in class and qualities to be practiced in daily life will foster the student's aim to become a leader in his or her own right. Topics on Core Principles of European Integration: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • European history in a nutshell • Father of Europe, Robert Schuman • Original frame of reference for European integration • Topicality of original framework & current European and global issues • There will be three lectures and three lecture/workshops that will show the link between Personal Leadership and the Core principles of European Integration.

- The lectures will provide the student with a deeper understanding of European Integration and give insight in current problematic issues and in how to help to solve them.
- Students will be asked to study in small groups, choosing one of the current EU crises – each group a different topic – and to come up with a way to solve this crisis when applying the core principles as they are meant to function. Their findings will be presented to the rest of the class and discussed in the form of a small congress for students by students.

Learning Outcomes	After this course the students will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Identify his or her strengths and flaws, virtues, and vices. • State different paradigms, and at the same time the (same) universal guiding principles on which personal leadership is based and which go beyond cultures. • Examine the strong connection between freedom and personal responsibility. • Produce a growth in self-awareness and leadership through acting proactively on a virtue/ positive quality while keeping the end in mind and putting first things first. • Assess through a reflective daily journal the progress of the chosen virtue/ positive quality. • Acknowledge the deep(er) content of the core principles for European Integration. • Identify the direct link between personal leadership and the effect of (not) practicing the core principles of European Integration when dealing with the current European crises within and at the borders of the EU. • Contribute to the solution of current crises while practicing the core principles.

Credits	15 ECTS
Module Manager	Dr. Vasilis Karakasis, v.karakasis@hhs.nl
Entry Requirements	None
Method	Lecture/ Seminar
Assessment	Assignment and Risk Assessment
Course Material	Will be provided online on Brightspace
Course Outline	Students will explore how the recent outbreak of war in Europe opened the EU's Pandora's box of uncertainties in the field of human security as well as the promotion of democracy & protection of human rights. Uncovering the risks will be done by engaging with members of think-tanks, members of the foreign affairs committees from political parties both in Brussels as well as in the EU capitals, diplomats from the European External Action Service as well as from the diplomatic corps of the EU member states. The course will introduce students to the main approaches and institutions to decipher questions on human security in Europe and its neighbourhood. We then proceed introducing and applying various models of foreign policy decision-making as well as risk assessment models. Students will familiarise themselves with Q-methodology, which is tailor-made to put the viewpoints of the abovementioned experts to the forefront of the analysis. Students will delve into the specifics of the European Neighbourhood Policy, the key actors, the policies pursued and their effectiveness. In addition, students will get guest lecturers by experts (public and private sectors) in the field of human security and the protection of democracy and human rights. Using as a starting point the European Commission's Strategic Foresight, our students develop the skills to conduct in-depth risk analysis for EU foreign policy think-tanks, providing practical insights and recommendations to address these complex challenges, prepare to navigate the intricacies of international affairs and become a strategic thinker in a rapidly evolving world.

Learning Outcomes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Students conduct risks analysis for assignment providers • Students will gain insights from various disciplines (foreign policy analysis and crisis management) and industries/fields (human security & promotion of democracy) • Students map the stakeholders involved in the ecosystem of European Neighbourhood Policy, from local to national and European level • Students meet practitioners and experts from various professional areas (members of think-tanks, policy-entrepreneurs in foreign policy, diplomats, representatives of European organizations and foreign affairs committees) for statement collection & ranking (see Q-methodology) • Students collect and analyse data (see Q-methodology) via guest lectures and desk research on risks in the fields of human security, democracy and protection of human rights • Students visualize their findings via graphs/pie/charts and present these orally using a factsheet/poster

Diplomacy & Foreign Policy in the EU

Course Code	MO-HMVT24-DFPEU
Year	3
Semester	2
Credits	15 ECTS
Module Manager	Dr. Michaela Anghel, m.anghel@hhs.nl Rebecca Kleiweg de Zwaan, r.kleiwegdezwaan@hhs.nl
Entry Requirements	Students following the minor should already have basic general knowledge and an understanding of Europe's cultural backgrounds and political structures.
Method	The course features online and/or live lectures and interactive seminars. Guest lectures, possible field trips, and in-class exercises are part of the course. Students will practice research, writing, speaking and will have the opportunity to establish an active network in the field of foreign policy and diplomacy. Interactive exercises are used to diversify the teaching methodology. Practice-orientation is a key aspect of this minor, allowing students to prepare for internships or junior work in the field of foreign policy and diplomacy upon graduation. Students should be prepared to participate actively and dedicate considerable time to this class.

Assessment	Simulation 33% Assignment 0% Portfolio 33% Assignment 24% Oral Assignment 10%
Course Material	Two textbooks which will be announced at a later point in time.
Course Outline	Diplomacy is key when looking at the EU's foreign policy. Indeed, without it, there would be no solutions to current issues. However, how is diplomacy conducted in the EU? What is the role of The European External Action Service? How is it organized? What are their main priorities when dealing with strategic partners, key international players, and emerging and developing powers -How do EU diplomats wheel and deal in the 21 century? The course focusses on Diplomacy in the EU. More specifically, the minor will be divided in three parts connected to three regions which are of importance to the EU: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) North America, 2) Africa, 3) Asia. In order to apply diplomacy in practice, students first need to have some knowledge about Foreign Policy and the EU. Therefore, the idea is to focus on basic theory in the first three weeks of the course. This will include the key players, policy and legislative framework and recent diplomatic developments as reported on in the news. Theoretical concepts and key research in the area of foreign policy and diplomacy will also be introduced. The first three weeks of the course will therefore be taught together for all three modules, likely in the form of online lectures (due to timetable conflicts) and live seminars that will focus on applying the theory presented to the respective geographical area of the part of the minor. In the following eight weeks, each part of the minor will focus on case studies related to the regions zooming in on the key issues at stake. During these weeks, experts from the professional field (both topic and geography-wise) will feature heavily and provide students with real-life examples and a feeling for how diplomacy plays out in practice. The vast personal and professional network of the module designers will ensure that students are able to make connections for future internships or jobs. The last three weeks of the minor will focus on the application of the knowledge and skills learned during the course and prepare the students for the summative assessment in each part of the minor. Skills labs such as writing clinics will be included and students will receive formative peer and instructor-led feedback.
Learning Outcomes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Understand the theoretical background of foreign policy and diplomacy;

- Explain the role of the EU on the world stage and its internal mechanisms related to foreign policy and diplomacy;
- Identify key conflicts in the various regions of strategic importance to the EU;
- Discuss relevant stakeholders, policy framework and processes in foreign policy and diplomacy;
- Demonstrate the ability to research developments on a global scale;
- Analyse conflicts from a political and legal angle;
- Produce and communicate advice on the basis of political and legal analysis of current conflicts.

Course Outline	Applied Research Skills is an important requirement for most job profiles in our Program Framework. In this course, students act as sustainability researchers and analysts who conduct research for a wide range of European professional end-users, including Research Groups and small-scale organizations located in THUAS, NGOs, lobby-groups and social-media campaigners. Through Applied Research, students learn how to decode the needs/desires of the assignment providers, translate them into research objectives, perform quantitative and qualitative analysis, and conclude with recommendations. Students are challenged to upgrade their research skills. They will learn how to design and run a survey wherein they introduce the needs of the assignment providers, translate them into research objectives, map the insights of previous authors in order to identify key concepts, “transform” these concepts into variables, use questionnaires to perform analysis and propose tangible conclusions and recommendations regarding questions of sustainability.
