Academic Guide Exchange 2022-2023

Bachelor of Social Work, THUAS

International Semester Social Work

Social inequality and social exclusion, inclusion and prevention

2022-2023

Semester 1

Academic Guide Exchange 2022-2023

Bachelor of Social Work, THUAS

Author

Rudy van den Hoven, Milena Kärtner

Date 09 March 2022

Version 1.0

Semester 1 at the Faculty of Social Work and Education at The Hague University of Applied Sciences (THUAS)

Disclaimer

The information contained in this guide is, to the best of our knowledge, true and accurate at the time of publication and is solely for information purposes. Changing circumstances may cause alterations in its outline at any time. The programme of The Hague University of Applied Sciences accepts no liability for any loss or damage howsoever arising as a result of use or reliance on this guide or on the information thereon or in respect of information accessed via any links from the Web pages.

Content

Introduction to the programme	.4
Structure of the programme	. 5
Courses	.7

Introduction to the programme

Social workers have an important task in identifying (at an early stage) social developments and investigating the significance of these developments with regard to the social position, social vulnerability and quality of life of various individuals and groups within society. To that end, problems of poverty, inequality and social exclusion have long been major areas for attention; they comprise a common thread running through the history of the social work profession.

The social worker examines issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion from a variety of perspectives and identifies both the possibilities and limitations of each of these perspectives. Where necessary, he draws public attention to social issues, puts it on the institutional and political agenda, envisions and develops proposals for improving professional practice, and gains support for these improvements.

At the same time, social workers must stay informed of current developments in professional practice, both at home, in their own country, and internationally, exploring new perspectives and approaches, along with new potential solutions and inspiring examples.

Today, developments often cut across borders and require an international perspective of both the developments and professional practice. As such, this requires the relevant skills and expertise to be able to operate in an international and multicultural environment. It requires the ability to change perspective: between an institutional perspective and a client perspective, between a local and a global perspective, but also to develop and apply new frameworks of reference and to discover opportunities for new strategies and interventions.

In this international semester you will work with students from different countries and different backgrounds to explore different theories and concepts related to poverty, social inequality and social exclusion, to research current developments, their impact in different national and local contexts and the way that social workers respond to them within their national and local contexts.

Structure of the programme

Modules

The international semester Social Work consists of two 10-week study periods. Welcome of our international students is on August, 25th, the introduction week with the whole class starts August, 28th 2022.

The first 10-week unit is made up of six parts:

- 1. An introduction to Social Work in The Netherlands (part 1.)
- 2. Knowledge track: Social inequality, poverty and social exclusion
- 3. Project: Analysing different approaches of poverty reduction
- 4. Research skills: project Quality of Life
- 5. Skills track: Training Intercultural sensitivity
- 6. Professional development track: Mentorship/Personal development/Dutch insights

The second period of 10 weeks is made up by:

- 1. An introduction to Social Work in the Netherlands (part 2.)
- 2. Knowledge track: Inclusion
- 3. Project: Prevention
- 4. Research skills: project Quality of life (cont.)
- 5. Skills track: Training motivational interviewing
- 6. Professional development track: Mentorship/Personal development/Dutch insights

Learning methods

Both the first and second parts of the international semester have a theoretical and practical component.

The theoretical part uses lectures and seminars to explore different theories and concepts of social inequality, poverty and social exclusion and to analyse current developments in society, in social policy and in professional practice. This will include site visits and guest lecturers from the field. The practical section brings in individual and group assignments, with weekly guidance from lecturers

The practical section brings in individual and group assignments, with weekly guidance from lecturers from various disciplines.

Learning goals

Upon completion of the international semester, students will have acquired the following knowledge and skills:

• knowledge about different theories of social inequality, poverty and social exclusion

- the knowledge and skills to analyse current developments in the field of inequality and poverty and their implications for social work practice;
- insight in the theories that explain the processes and mechanisms of social exclusion and their impact on the position of various groups in society;
- the development of international and intercultural competences, in particular:
  - the development of a broad international perspective on the social work profession;
  - o an understanding of the context-related character of social work practice;
  - o the development of critical cultural awareness;
  - the ability to cross over disciplinary and professional boundaries, languages and cultural backgrounds and to work with colleagues with a range of cultural backgrounds and frameworks of reference.

Assessment / Credits

٠	Introduction to Social Work in the Netherlands	individual paper	3 ECTS
٠	Social inequality, poverty and social exclusion	individual written exam	4 ECTS
٠	Inclusion	individual assignment	3 ECTS
٠	Project: Analysing local approaches of poverty reduction	group assignment	3 ECTS
٠	Project: Prevention	group assignment	5 ECTS
•	Research skills: project Quality of Life	group/individual assignment	3 ECTS
٠	Training Intercultural sensitivity	individual/group assessment	3 ECTS
•	Training Motivational interviewing	individual assessment	3 ECTS
٠	Dutch insights + Mentorship	attendance in class	3 ECTS

Course title	ECTS	Semester 1 Term 1	Semester 1 Term 2
Introduction to Social Work in The Netherlands	3	х	х
Social inequality, poverty and social exclusion	4	х
Inclusion	3		х
Project: Analyzing different approaches of poverty reduction	3	х
Project: Prevention	5		х
Research skills: project Quality of Life	3	х	х
Training Intercultural sensitivity	3	х
Training Motivational interviewing	3		х
Dutch insights	1	х	х
Mentorship/Personal development	2	х	х

Courses

Below you will find, as an example, a short description of some of the courses within the International Semester. These courses are offered in English, unless stated otherwise. Also, the courses are optional, unless indicated it is compulsory.

More detailed information about all course modules will be available by the beginning of April 2022.

1. Introduction to social work in the Netherlands
Title & language	Introduction to Social Work in the Netherlands
	English
Organising department/	Faculty Social Work & Education
program	Social Work
Contact person /	Rudy van den Hoven
lecturer	r.f.m.vandenhoven@hhs.nl
Cycle	1 st
Number of ECTS	3
General objectives	The overall goal of the course is to offer international students a short introduction to social work in the Netherlands, its history and its national context.
Summary of contents	During eight lectures an introduction will be offered to social work in the Netherlands, its history, its main characteristics and socio-political context.
	In addition to the lectures, students will visit a number of local organisations in the field of social work and write a short reflection about their observations.
Indication of target	2 nd and 3 rd year bachelor students who have affinity with social work and its
group	related issues.
Entry requirements	None
Competency levels	Upon completion of this course, students will have acquired:
	an understanding of the history, main characteristics and current context of social work in the Netherlands;
	<ul> <li>a first insight in professional practice;</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>an understanding of the main features of the Dutch welfare state and</li> </ul> current social policy developments in the Netherlands;
	• understanding of the context-related character of social work practice.
Description of tests and	Individual written assignment
minimum pass rate	Minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.
Teaching methods +	- lectures
study load	- field visits
	- individual assignment
	Study load: 84 hrs. (3 ECTS)
Contact hours	1.5 hours / week.

Study aids	Reader
Partners	Local organisations in the field of social work.
Minimum- and	Minimum: 10
maximum participation	Maximum: 25
Term	Semester 1
	Aug. 2022 – January 2023
Miscellaneous	This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023
OSIRIS code	SW-HV1KSEP-20

	2. Knowledge track: Social inequality, poverty and social exclusion
	Social inequality, poverty and social exclusion
Title & language	English
Organising department /	Faculty Social Work & Education
program	Social Work
Contact person	Rudy van den Hoven
	r.f.m.vandenhoven@hhs.nl
Cycle	1 st
Number of ECTS	4
General objectives	The overall goal of the course is to equip students to:
	• analyze current developments and trends in the field of social inequality and poverty and their significance for the social work profession and professional practice; <ul> <li>analyze processes and mechanisms of social exclusion;</li> </ul> develop their own vision on the social function and positioning of the social work profession;
	<ul> <li>develop a broad international perspective on social work.</li> </ul>
Summary of contents	In a series of 7 lectures and 5 working group meetings different theoretical perspectives on social inequality, poverty and social exclusion will be introduced as well as their meaning for the positioning and professional practice of Social Work.
	We will begin to explore these concepts and how they interrelate with one another. In doing so, we will focus on questions such as: What is poverty? What is social inequality? What are the causes? How can these be addressed and by whom?
	The course will additionally address various visions on poverty and inequality and explore how different perspectives affect efforts to combat poverty and inequality. Attention will then be paid to current developments in society, including those concerning the welfare state and social policy, and the significance of these developments with regard to the social position of vulnerable groups within society.
	We will also, based on the international definition of social work, reflect on the positioning and role of the social worker in relation to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion. We will explore current developments and new initiatives in international social work practice, such as, for instance, working from a human rights perspective. We will then explore mechanisms behind social exclusion. The relationship between established groups and outsiders plays a major role in creating social exclusion, as do the dominant discourses that contribute to negative sentiments regarding certain groups.

<ul> <li>function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality and poverty;</li> <li>have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social inequality;</li> <li>analyse current (international) developments, involving the welfare state and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;</li> <li>apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the</li> </ul>
Also an online exchange with the University of the Free State in South Africa is planned as part of the program. Some classes and assignments will be in cooperation with South Africa, some only with the international class.         Indication of target group       2 nd and 3 rd year bachelor students who have affinity with social work and its related issues.         Entry requirements       None         Competency levels       Upon completion of this course, students will have acquired the knowledge and skills to: <ul> <li>describe and apply different theoretical perspectives on social inequality, poverty and social exclusion;</li> <li>describe the meaning of these different perspectives for the social function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality and poverty;</li> <li>have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social inequality;</li> <li>analyse current (international) developments, involving the welfare state and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;</li> <li>apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;</li> <li>apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and their impact on a person's quality of life.</li> </ul> Description of tests and minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.         Teaching methods + 3tudy load       Study load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)         Contact hours       2.5 hours / week.         Stu planned as part of the program. Some classes and assignments will be in cooperation with South Africa, some only with the international class.         Indication of target group       2 nd and 3 rd year bachelor students who have affinity with social work and its related issues.         Entry requirements       None         Competency levels       Upon completion of this course, students will have acquired the knowledge and skills to: <ul> <li>describe and apply different theoretical perspectives on social inequality, poverty and social ecclusion;</li> <li>describe the meaning of these different perspectives for the social function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality and poverty;</li> <li>have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;</li> <li>apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;</li> <li>apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;</li> <li>apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and a proson's quality of life.</li> </ul> Teaching methods +       7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetings         Study load       Study load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)         Contact hours       2.5 hours / week.         Study aids       Reader		- cooperation with South Africa, some only with the international class.           Indication of target group         2 nd and 3 nd year bachelor students who have affinity with social work and its related issues.           Entry requirements         None           Competency levels         Upon completion of this course, students will have acquired the knowledge and skills to: <ul> <li>describe and apply different theoretical perspectives on social inequality, poverty and social exclusion;</li> <li>describe the meaning of these different perspectives for the social function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality;</li> <li>have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social inequality;</li> <li>analyse current (international) developments, involving the welfare state and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;</li> <li>apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and poverty;</li> <li>apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.</li> </ul> <li>Description of tests and minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.</li> <li>Teaching methods + 3tudy load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)</li> <li>Contact hours</li> <li>Study load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)</li> <li>Guest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South Africa</li> <li>Minimum- and maximum participation</li> <li>Term</li> <li>Semester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022</li>
Indication of target       2 nd and 3 rd year bachelor students who have affinity with social work and its related issues.         Entry requirements       None         Competency levels       Upon completion of this course, students will have acquired the knowledge and skills to: <ul> <li>describe and apply different theoretical perspectives on social inequality, powerty and social exclusion;</li> <li>describe the meaning of these different perspectives for the social function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality;</li> <li>have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;</li> <li>analyse current (international) developments, involving the welfare state and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;</li> <li>apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;</li> <li>apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.</li> </ul> Description of tests and minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.         Teaching methods + study load         Study load         Study aids         Reader         Partners         Guest lecturers from the professional field, Unive group         related issues.           Entry requirements         None           Competency levels         Upon completion of this course, students will have acquired the knowledge and skills to: <ul></ul>		cooperation with South Africa, some only with the international class.
Entry requirements         None           Competency levels         Upon completion of this course, students will have acquired the knowledge and skills to: <ul> <li>describe and apply different theoretical perspectives on social inequality, poverty and social exclusion;</li> <li>describe the meaning of these different perspectives for the social function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality and poverty;</li> <li>have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social inequality;</li> <li>analyse current (international) developments, involving the welfare state and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;</li> <li>apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;</li> <li>apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.</li> </ul> <li>Description of tests and minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.</li> <li>Teaching methods + study load</li> <li>Study load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)</li> <li>Contact hours</li> <li>2.5 hours / week.</li> <li>Study aids</li> <li>Reader</li> <li>Partners</li> <li>Guest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bioemfontein, South Africa</li> <li>Minimum- and maximum participation</li> <li>Maximum: 50</li> <li>Term</li> <li>Semester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022</li> <li>Miscellaneous</li> <li>This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023</li>	Indication of target	$2^{nd}$ and $3^{rd}$ year bachelor students who have affinity with social work and its Competency levels         Upon completion of this course, students will have acquired the knowledge and skills to:           •         describe and apply different theoretical perspectives on social inequality, poverty and social exclusion;           •         describe the meaning of these different perspectives for the social function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality and poverty;           •         have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social inequality;           •         nadyse current (international) developments, involving the welfare state and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;           •         apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;           •         apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.           Description of tests and minimum pass rate         Individual written exam           Minimum pass rate         7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetings           Study load         2.5 hours / week.           Study aids         Reader           Partners         Guest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South Africa           Minimum- and maximum participation         Minimum: 25 Maximum: 50     <	group	related issues.
and skills to:       • describe and apply different theoretical perspectives on social inequality, poverty and social exclusion;         • describe the meaning of these different perspectives for the social function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality and poverty;         • have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social inequality;         • analyse current (international) developments, involving the welfare state and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;         • apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;         • apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.         Description of tests and minimum pass rate       Individual written exam         Minimum pass rate       7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetings         Study load       Study load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)         Contact hours       2.5 hours / week.         Study aids       Reader         Partners       Guest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South Africa         Minimum- and minimum 25       Maximum: 25         Maximum: 50       Semester 1, period 1         August – Nov. 2022       Misellaneous	Entry requirements	None
<ul> <li>describe and apply different theoretical perspectives on social inequality, poverty and social exclusion;</li> <li>describe the meaning of these different perspectives for the social function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality and poverty;</li> <li>have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;</li> <li>apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;</li> <li>apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.</li> <li>Individual written exam</li> <li>Minimum pass rate</li> <li>Study load</li> <li>Study load</li> <li>Study load</li> <li>Study load</li> <li>Study load</li> <li>Reader</li> <li>Partners</li> <li>Guest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South Africa</li> <li>Minimum pastricipation</li> <li>Maximum: 50</li> <li>Term</li> <li>Semester 1, period 1         <ul> <li>August – Nov. 2022</li> </ul> </li> </ul>	Competency levels	Upon completion of this course, students will have acquired the knowledge poverty and social exclusion;• describe the meaning of these different perspectives for the social function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality and poverty;• have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social inequality;• have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social inequality;• analyse current (international) developments, involving the welfare state and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;• apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;• apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.Description of tests and minimum pass rateIndividual written exam Minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.Teaching methods + study load7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetings Study loadStudy aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMinimum: 25 Maximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023		and skills to:
function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality and poverty;have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social inequality;analyse current (international) developments, involving the welfare state and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.Teaching methods + study load7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetingsStudy loadStudy load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)Contact hours2.5 hours / week.Study aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMaximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023
<ul> <li>have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and social inequality;</li> <li>analyse current (international) developments, involving the welfare state and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;</li> <li>apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;</li> <li>apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.</li> <li>Individual written exam</li> <li>Minimum pass rate</li> <li>Minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.</li> <li>Teaching methods + study load</li> <li>Study load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)</li> <li>Contact hours</li> <li>2.5 hours / week.</li> <li>Study aids</li> <li>Reader</li> <li>Partners</li> <li>Guest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South Africa</li> <li>Minimum- and</li> <li>Minimum: 25</li> <li>Maximum participation</li> <li>Maximum: 50</li> <li>Term</li> <li>Semester 1, period 1</li> <li>August – Nov. 2022</li> <li>Misecllaneous</li> <li>This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023</li> </ul>		<ul> <li>describe the meaning of these different perspectives for the social function and professional practice of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality and poverty;</li> </ul>
and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the quality of life of various groups in society;apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.Description of tests and minimum pass rateIndividual written exam Minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.Teaching methods + study load7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetingsStudy loadStudy load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)Contact hours2.5 hours / week.Study aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMinimum: 25 Maximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August - Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023		have an understanding of various policy measures to combat poverty and specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion; • apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.Description of tests and minimum pass rateIndividual written exam Minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.Teaching methods + study load7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetings Study load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)Contact hours2.5 hours / week.Study aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMinimum: 25 Maximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023		and social policy, to determine how they affect the social position and the
of poverty, social inequality and exclusion;• apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.Description of tests and minimum pass rateIndividual written examMinimum pass rateMinimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.Teaching methods + study load7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetingsStudy loadStudy load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)Contact hours2.5 hours / week.Study aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMinimum: 25 Maximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023		• apply international frames of reference and guidelines in defining the
• apply theories in order to analyse the processes and mechanisms of exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.Description of tests and minimum pass rateIndividual written exam Minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.Teaching methods + study load7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetings Study load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)Contact hours2.5 hours / week.Study aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMinimum: 25 Maximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023		specific contribution and positioning of social work with regard to issues of poverty, social inequality and exclusion:
exclusion and inclusion and their impact on a person's quality of life.Description of tests and minimum pass rateIndividual written examMinimum pass rateMinimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.Teaching methods + study load7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetingsContact hours2.5 hours / week.Study aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMinimum: 25 Maximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023
Description of tests and minimum pass rateIndividual written exam Minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.Teaching methods + study load7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetings Study load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)Contact hours2.5 hours / week.Study aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMinimum: 25 Maximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023
minimum pass rateMinimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.Teaching methods + study load7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetings Study load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)Contact hours2.5 hours / week.Study aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMinimum: 25 Maximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August - Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023	Description of tests and
Teaching methods + study load7 weekly lectures, 5 working group meetings Study load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)Contact hours2.5 hours / week.Study aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMinimum: 25 Maximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023	-
study loadStudy load: 112 hrs. (4 ECTS)Contact hours2.5 hours / week.Study aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMinimum: 25 Maximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023	•
Contact hours2.5 hours / week.Study aidsReaderPartnersGuest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South AfricaMinimum- and maximum participationMinimum: 25 Maximum: 50TermSemester 1, period 1 August - Nov. 2022MiscellaneousThis module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023	-
Study aids       Reader         Partners       Guest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South Africa         Minimum- and maximum participation       Minimum: 25 Maximum: 50         Term       Semester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022         Miscellaneous       This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023	-
Bloemfontein, South Africa       Minimum- and maximum participation     Minimum: 25 Maximum: 50       Term     Semester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022       Miscellaneous     This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023	Study aids
Bloemfontein, South Africa       Minimum- and maximum participation     Minimum: 25 Maximum: 50       Term     Semester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022       Miscellaneous     This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023	Partners	Guest lecturers from the professional field, University of the Free state.
maximum participation     Maximum: 50       Term     Semester 1, period 1 August – Nov. 2022       Miscellaneous     This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023
Term       Semester 1, period 1         August – Nov. 2022       Miscellaneous         This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023	Minimum- and
Term       Semester 1, period 1         August – Nov. 2022       Miscellaneous         This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023	maximum participation	Maximum: 50
Miscellaneous         This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023	Term	Semester 1, period 1
Miscellaneous         This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023		August – Nov. 2022
OSIRIS code SW-HV1KSEPE-21	Miscellaneous	-
	OSIRIS code	SW-HV1KSEPE-21

	3. Project: Analysing different approaches of poverty reduction
	Project: Analyzing different approaches of poverty reduction
Title & language	English
Organising department/	Faculty Social Work & Education/
program	Social Work
Contact person /	Rudy van den Hoven
lecturer	r.f.m.vandenhoven@hhs.nl
Cycle	1 st
Number of credits	3
General objectives	<ul> <li>The overall goal of the course is to equip students to analyze and take a critical stand in relation to current developments and professional practices in the field of social inequality and poverty by:         <ul> <li>analyzing current responses of local organizations active in the field of poverty and social inequality;</li> <li>compare these responses to different theoretical perspectives on social inequality and poverty (reduction)</li> <li>developing their own vision on the social function and positioning of the social work profession;</li> <li>developing a broad international perspective on social work.</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Summary of contents	In small working groups, students will study the way local organizations in The Hague active in the field of Social Work respond to issues of poverty and social inequality. They will study the vision, policy and working methods of these organisations and analyse these aspects from different theoretical perspectives. They will apply a human rights perspective and explore how current developments and new initiatives in international SW practice can contribute to the professional practice and policies of local organizations. Finally they will, with the help of international literature, develop a proposal aimed at the improvement or further development of the organisation's policy and current range of activities.
Indication of target group	2 nd and 3 rd year bachelor students who have affinity with social work and its related issues.
Entry requirements	None
Competency levels	<ul> <li>Upon completion of this course, students will have acquired the knowledge and skills to:</li> <li>describe and analyze current responses in the field of social inequality and poverty;</li> <li>identify and understand the meaning of underlying assumptions and perspectives in professional practice and social policy in the field of poverty and social inequality;</li> </ul>

	<ul> <li>select relevant current developments and initiatives in international professional practice with regard to combating poverty and social inequality;</li> <li>analyse the significance of these developments in relation to (the improvement of) the policy and activities of their own organisation;</li> <li>express a clear vision on the social function of Social Work in relation to issues of social inequality and poverty;</li> <li>refer to important international frames of reference in the field of human development, human rights and social justice;</li> <li>cooperate and share knowledge with colleagues who think and act from a different frame of reference.</li> </ul>
Description of tests and	Group assignment with individual part
minimum pass rate	Minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.
Teaching methods +	Weekly working group meetings
study load	Field visit, interviews with local professional and/or service user
	Study load: 84 hrs. (3 ECTS)
Contact hours	1.5 hours / week.
Study aids	Reader
Partners	Local organizations active in the field of social inequality and poverty
Minimum- and	Minimum: 15
maximum participation	Maximum: 30
Term	Semester 1, period 1
	August – Nov. 2022
Miscellaneous	This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023
OSIRIS code	SW-HV1PAVAE-20

4. Skills track: Training Intercultural Sensitivity
	Training Intercultural Sensitivity
Title & language	English
Organising department /	Faculty Social Work & Education
program	Social Work
Contact person	Milena Kärtner
	M.L.Kartner@hhs.nl
Cycle	1st
Number of credits	3
General objectives	The overall goal of the course is to equip students to contribute to the development of the profession by:
	• Reflecting on the influence of their own socialization and frame of references and those of colleagues and clients on acting in private context as well as Social Work situations <ul> <li>Practicing intercultural communication, in a way that socialization, frame</li> </ul> of references and cultural elements are being reflected in the way of making contact with people
Summary of contents	In a series of 7 training sessions and several field assignments basic skills of intercultural communication and sensitivity will be trained.
	For the training sessions and the field assignments active participation of each student individually and in groups is mandatory.
	Additionally, as preparation for each training session/assignment, students are expected to study the reading materials assigned for that week.
	Also an online exchange with the University of the Free State in South Af is part of the program. Some training session and assignments will be in cooperation with South Africa, some only with the international class.
Indication of target	$2^{nd}$ and $3^{rd}$ year bachelor students who have affinity with social work and its
group	related issues.
Entry requirements	None
Competency levels	Upon completion of this course, students will have acquired the knowledge competency levels	and skills to:
	<ul> <li>recognize situations where different cultural frames of reference are</li> </ul> underlying to conflicts and misunderstandings; <ul> <li>show appropriate behavior in these situations, referencing to a broad</li> </ul> interpretation of the term culture and applying basis skills of intercultural sensitivity taking into account their professional context and the context of colleagues as well as clients.
Description of tests and	Portfolio with group assignments and individual assignments
minimum pass rate	Minimum pass rate: 5.5 or more on a 10-point scale.
Teaching methods +	- 7 training sessions, 1 lecture
study load	- 2 field assignments

	Study load: 84 hrs. (3 ECTS)
Contact hours	2 to 3 hours / week
Study aids	Reader and book
Partners	University of the Free state, Bloemfontein, South Africa
Minimum- and	15 – 25
maximum participation
Term	Semester 1, period 1
	August – Nov. 2022
Miscellaneous	This module is part of the International Semester Social Work 2022-2023
OSIRIS code	SW-HV1VSEPE-20

International Semester Social Work (Summary)

Faculty: Social Work and Education

Period: Semester 1, 29th August 2022 – 30th January 2023

Welcome international students: Thursday 25th August

Cycle: 1st

Total number of credits: 30 ECTS

Language: All modules are taught in English

Program:

Period 1 (30th August – Nov. 2022)	Period 2 (Nov. 2022 – 27th Jan. 2023)
<ol> <li>Social inequality, poverty and social exclusion (4 ECTS)</li> </ol>	1. Inclusion (3 ECTS)
<ol> <li>Project: Analysing different approaches of poverty reduction (3 ECTS)</li> </ol>	2. Project: Prevention (5 ECTS)
3. Training intercultural sensitivity (3 ECTS)	3. Training Motivational interviewing (3 ECTS)
4. Introduction to Social Work in the Netherlands (3 ECTS)
5. Research skills: project Quality of Life (3 ECTS)
6. Dutch insights (1 ECTS)
7. Mentorship (2 ECTS)

More information about the program of the International Semester Social Work:

Rudy van den Hoven (Coordinator Internationalisation Social Work) +31.639072314 r.f.m.vandenhoven@hhs.nl

Milena Kärtner (Internationalisation Social Work) +31.639082128 M.L.Kartner@hhs.nl

Further information about The Hague University of Applied Sciences and registration: https://www.thehagueuniversity.com/programmes/other-courses/exchange-programmes